

The school experience panel

Insights and tips from parents for a smooth transition to school

Starting school is an exciting milestone for families. It marks the beginning of a new chapter as children take their first steps into formal education

This session is designed for families preparing their child for this important transition. It's a great opportunity to hear directly from parents who've already navigated the journey to school with their own children.

Come along to explore:

- Different school options
- What each school setting can offer your child
- Tips and insights from families who've been there

There will also be time for questions, so you can ask about what matters most to your family.
