

Getting ready for school: The school experience panel

Insights and tips from parents for a smooth transition to school

Starting school is an exciting milestone for families. It marks the beginning of a new chapter as children take their first steps into formal education.

This session is designed for families preparing their child for this important transition. It's a valuable opportunity to hear directly from parents who have already supported their child to start school.

Our parent panel will share their diverse experiences, including:

- Mainstream schools
- Support schools
- Delayed school commencement

They'll offer insights on:

- How they chose the right school or setting for their child
- Strategies they used to support a smooth transition
- How they've built and maintained positive, collaborative relationships with their child's school
