

Tuning into Kids Daytime*

Foster your child's emotional development

Tuning in to Kids is an evidence-based program that helps you support your child in developing emotional intelligence.

You'll learn skills in emotion coaching—recognizing, understanding, and managing both your and your child's emotions. When children develop these skills, they're better equipped to handle life's ups and downs.

In this program, you'll learn to:

- Tune in to your child's emotions and understand their emotional experience.
- Communicate with your child in ways that build connection.
- Use new strategies to manage tricky moments.
- Support your child in managing their emotions and handling conflict.
